Clean Air: It's Important!

By Joan Miller

People drive too much, and it makes the air dirty. In my family, we don't drive a lot. My mother takes the subway to work. It takes half an hour. My sister's school is fifteen minutes away, so she walks to school. I take the bus to school, and it takes twenty minutes. Only my father drives to work because it's very far. We try to keep the air clean. It's really important.

My mom takes the subway to work.

B Write the correct person under each picture.

Teenage Drivers

Countries have different rules about driving. In most countries, people must be 18 years old to drive. This is the rule in countries like China, Brazil, and France. But the rules in some other countries are different. In Canada, people can start driving at 16. They must drive with their mom or dad, and they cannot drive on big roads. But they can learn to drive.

- When can you start driving in your country?
